It is the purpose of the modern health crusade to teach health habits to the boys and girls of the community, for it has been ascertained that half the children in America become infected with the white plague before they are 10 years old, and whether or not the disease becomes active depends on their ability to build up resistance. The crusade not only protects them against tuberoulosis, but also from many other diseases which impoverish the system and make the child a far more ready victim of that great enemy.

Next Friday is tag day for the Community House for Colored People, and stations will be placed throughout the city, a number of those in the business districts being in charge of the white friends of the institution of which Justice J. Hore Ricks is president. It is hoped that several thousand dollars will be raised as indications are that the demands on the Community House, which cares for the negro work of the Associated Charities, will be hearier this winter than in any previous season, as so many people are out of work who heretofore have been self-supporting.

More than healt the funds sould be formed to the second Friday.

More than half the funds required to meet the expenses of the institution, at 2 West Marshall Street, are always contributed by the colored people themselves and for several weeks now Maggie L. Walker, chairman of the tegro section of the finance-cosmittee, has been conducting a drive among members of her own race. But owing to economic pressure it has sheen found somewhat more difficult than usual to meet the budget, so white friends are urged to be liberal to a work which Justice Ricks regards as one one of the most invaluable and constructive forces in the city, making for a better understanding between the races.
